

A Day at the Beach

By: Elyse Schrader

Editor-in-Chief

The Intro. to Art class spent a day visiting the Beach Museum in Manhattan. They left mid-morning on Wednesday, April 30. The museum is located on the K-State campus. The students had the chance to tour the museum along with a lower level room where the paintings are restored. After visiting the Beach Museum the students went to a family owned museum called the Stricker Nelson Gallery. This museum included an exhibit of landscapes. There were photographs and ceramics. On Wednesday, May 7, art students also had the opportunity to travel to Kansas City to tour the Nelson Art Gallery.